The Vermeer Exhibition,
“Making the Difference: Vermeer and Dutch Art”
Opens at Osaka City Museum of Fine Art!

The Vermeer Exhibition, “Making the Difference: Vermeer and Dutch Art” is now open at the Osaka City Museum of Fine Art from February 16th to May 12th.

Vermeer is known as an unprolific painter. The remaining paintings are estimated at 35 works, where 6 of them will be exhibited in this exhibition, including The Procuress which is shown for the first time in Japan and The Love Letter exhibited only at the Osaka venue.

Especially, The Procuress is an important painting as it is Vermeer’s turning point from religious painting to genre painting, and the man depicted on the left side of the painting is often identified as Vermeer himself.
